The doctor's visit may end, but the support continues

Once your doctor enrolls you in TARPEYO Touchpoints™, a TARPEYO Touchpoints Care Navigator will contact you. As the primary contact on your treatment journey, a Care Navigator is only one phone call away.

A TARPEYO Touchpoints Pharmacist and a TARPEYO Touchpoints Nurse Educator are also available to provide support and answer questions.

Here are some questions you can ask your TARPEYO Touchpoints Care Navigator:

- How does TARPEYO Touchpoints confirm my insurance coverage?
- Are there any financial assistance programs available?
- Who do I contact if I have questions about financial assistance?
- How do I refill my prescription?
- Can you help me remember to take my medication?
- Should I expect any side effects from TARPEYO™ (budesonide) delayed release capsules?
- Is there anything I should avoid while taking TARPEYO?

A TARPEYO Touchpoints Care Navigator provides personalized, one-on-one support.

We're available Monday through Friday, 8 AM to 8 PM ET, at 1-833-444-8277 or visit TarpeyoTouchpoints.com

Prescription pickup shouldn't be a hiccup

Once your doctor has prescribed TARPEYO™ (budesonide) delayed release capsules, it's delivered directly to your doorstep. TARPEYO is shipped to you from an exclusive specialty pharmacy (a mail-order pharmacy that sells specialty drugs) called Biologics. TARPEYO is not available at any other pharmacy.

Your doctor prescribes TARPEYO.

A Biologics pharmacist calls you to set up the first shipment for next-day delivery to wherever you are.*

TARPEYO arrives at your doorstep. Unless requested, a signature isn't required for delivery confirmation.

A TARPEYO Touchpoints™ Nurse Educator will check in with you 14 days after the first shipment.

For future shipments, you can sign up for refill notifications by text message, or Biologics will contact you 7 to 10 days before your next refill to schedule delivery.

With TARPEYO Touchpoints, there's no trip to the pharmacy.
